

In commitment to anti-racism, and elevating all Canadian voices, the 2021 Canadian Film Fest is giving away 100 submission fee waivers to BIPOC filmmakers all across Canada.

Along with that, they will be waiving the Toronto premiere status for BIPOC filmmakers, which means if a film (short or feature) has screened at a Toronto festival in the past two years, it will now also be eligible to screen at the Canadian Film Fest. Films that are already available to the general public or online before March 2021 are not eligible.

Submissions close on December 23 so make sure you apply soon!
